

Fundación Avina Moves Toward Carbon Neutrality.

In 2022, Fundación Avina, WTT, and Avina Americas took the next step in our strategy to achieve carbon neutrality. This included tracking the greenhouse emissions generated by our operations as well as taking measures to reduce and offset emissions with projects to capture carbon through socially responsible forest restoration.

In addition, in 2022, Fundación Avina signed onto the International Philanthropy Commitment on Climate Change, a global movement of over 600 foundations committed to taking urgent action on climate change. By joining this network, our organization will be held accountable for our carbon neutrality strategy and participate in a community of practice with foundations that share the same goal.

The total emissions from our operations in 2022 came to 312.73 tons of CO₂ equivalent. To offset any unavoidable emissions, we turned again to our trusted ally IDESAM, which will plant 894 trees in the Uatumã region of the Brazilian Amazon, using ethical practices involving the local community.
